

How to Save Your Place – YouTube Audiobooks

The ‘video progress bar’ can be found at the bottom of any YouTube video. This will help you navigate the timings of your video including other chapters; rewinding and fast-forwarding.

Unfortunately, if you want to bookmark the exact point in the YouTube video that you are at, clicking the ★ favorite icon in your browser window won't save the timing. However, this trick below will! Pause your video at the point you would like to start back at and then click the Share button. In the new dialog box, be sure to check the box to Start at: (time will show) and then Click the Copy button. This new link will have the timings as well, so you can now paste the link into a new browser window and proceed to bookmark as normal. This process will be similar on mobile but might vary some. Look for better options on mobile or view the progress bar to note last time in video.

As for how to rewind and fast forward a video by 10 secs. There isn't a clear button on the screen, but you can use a quick keyboard shortcut. Simply press the “J” key on the keyboard to move back 10 secs or the “L” key to move forward by 10 secs.
